

At only 12 years old, Aurora, is a burgeoning singer/songwriter whose smoky vocals enchant listeners with an avant-garde pop style reminiscent of Fiona Apple and Cat Power. Her incredible stage presence draws in audiences with her intricate wordplay and uninhibited emotion. This was evidenced at a recent showcase at the George Mason University where she garnered a standing ovation.

A child of many talents, she is also an incredible artist. Her talent for visual expression translates into her music; she paints images with words in exquisite detail. Her new single entitled "Stop Stalling," is scheduled to be released this summer 2016 on iTunes, Spotify, and Soundcloud. It is proof that her writing and talent for expression extends well beyond her years.